GENERAL INDICATORS OF REBEL ACTIVITY

Imperial personnel should watch for the following patterns:

Transportation

- Ships carrying unusually large amounts of fuel
- Damaged vessels avoiding Imperial repair facilities
- Repeated visits to remote moons or asteroids
- Ships using falsified transponder codes

Contraband

- Military-grade weapons disguised as civilian cargo
- Stolen Imperial uniforms
- Restricted medical supplies
- Encrypted communications equipment
- Starfighter components
- Explosives
- Imperial data cylinders
- Forged identification documents

Personnel

Individuals should receive additional scrutiny when they:

- Publicly criticize Imperial authority
- Refuse Imperial military contracts
- Maintain unexplained connections with smugglers
- Frequently travel between politically unstable worlds
- Have military training without current Imperial employment
- Demonstrate unusual knowledge of Imperial facilities

HIGH-RISK REBEL INDICATORS

Priority Alpha

- Confirmed Rebel personnel

- Rebel fleet vessels
- Stolen Imperial weapons shipments
- Hidden military installations

- Anti-Imperial political organizations
- Unregistered civilian starships

Priority Gamma

FINAL INTELLIGENCE NOTE

The presence of anti-Imperial sentiment should not automatically be interpreted as proof of Rebel Alliance membership. Many citizens may object to individual Imperial policies without participating in an organized insurgency.

Particular attention should therefore be given to connections between political dissidents, smugglers, stolen military equipment, unidentified starships, and unexplained movements of personnel.
